

CRYSTAL FENG-SHUI™

“Why use crystals to enhance living or work spaces?” is a perennial question asked by the uninitiated. To understand the answer in as simple terms as possible, please consider the following;

Firstly all matter is made up of light or energy...the denser (real looking) is an object the slower is its overall vibration (frequency or the speed of its moving energy particles).

Consider next that our current scientific understanding has already proved that everything in the universe as we know it is in fact connected through invisible threads of energy & therefore “everything affects everything”. Science refers to this overall connecting energy as the “Web of Creation” or the “Holographic Universe”. So in any environment inhabited by humans, animals, & plants, which are all incidentally also made up of energy, there is an interaction which occurs between all animate, inanimate & ethereal matter.

Now a basic understanding within physics is the fact that any interaction between objects which are vibrating at varying frequencies will produce constructive or destructive effects. To understand this look in a pool of water and watch as one ripple cancels out or interferes with another, if & when their crests are out of step with each other.

Humans, animals & plants, have many energetic levels as part of their make-up. Some of which are physical & some which are “subtle” (not part of the usual visible range). Therefore under some circumstances, there may appear to be harmony within a particular environment, yet there may be varying amounts of interference, between the various elements at the more subtle levels. These “interference patterns” within an environment may produce a myriad of symptoms in the inhabitants such as agitation, fatigue, confusion, low productivity, illness or accidents.

When an environment is at odds with its inhabitants, one of the easiest ways to eliminate destructive energetic interactions is by using crystals to affect the frequencies of the various elements (animate & inanimate) so as to create harmonious (constructive) interactions.

Basic optics explains that all energy & light may have its, amplitude, direction & frequency altered whenever it comes in contact with various optical media. The amount of change is a function of the molecular structure of the material, its refractive index & at times an object’s shape. Crystals depending on their molecular structure, crystalline lattice, size & orientation are extremely efficacious in altering & enhancing environmental energy grids, thus bringing energetic harmony to the environment.

Another powerful Feng-Shui use of crystals is to alleviate Geopathic stress which is due to the orientation & location of buildings on the land. For example, where a living space crosses Earth’s Ley Lines, the correct crystal placed appropriately is more effective than the traditional use of metal rods.
